

Lancashire School Readiness Definition:

A locally agreed understanding of what being 'school ready' means.

Partnership working between early years settings, schools and parents, where there is a local mutual understanding of what is expected in terms of a child's readiness for school, is an essential factor for any child to be well prepared for their transition to reception class.

This definition has been compiled following an analysis of research and through consultation with a range of Lancashire professionals from all sectors. It is designed to be adapted, as needed, to suit your setting and locality needs.

How you may wish to use it

- Consider the statements and discuss with your team
- Decide whether they need adapting to suit your context
- Share with parents and carers to help them get their child ready for school, alongside the booklet: helping-my-child-get-ready-for-starting-school.pdf (lancashire.gov.uk)
