

Northern Holocaust Education Group (NHEG) was founded in recognition that the first generation of Holocaust Survivors will not be able to tell their stories in person forever.

Our aim is to ensure that future generations will continue to experience the life stories of victims of Nazi persecution and the Holocaust, in a way that will be meaningful and relevant to the issues of the present day.

These life stories form a rich resource for schools, colleges, places of worship and civic authorities to use as part of their programmes about the Holocaust, discrimination and identity.

Our volunteer speakers are invited as guests to deliver a personal story of their families experience of the Holocaust and the Nazi period. We hope our presentations will spark and inspire members of the audience to stand up against hatred, discrimination and persecution of any kind.

Northern Holocaust Education Group's (NHEG) purpose is to pass on the life stories and experiences of the victims of Nazi persecution and the Holocaust so that they are not forgotten or denied.

If you are interested in booking one of our volunteer speakers please email - administration@northernholocausteducationgroup.org.uk

NHEG's work includes challenging all forms of discrimination and prejudice and create a greater understanding of the plight of refugees today.

We hope our presentations will spark and inspire members of the audience to stand up against hatred, discrimination and persecution of any kind and to oppose Holocaust denial.

NHEG provides a network of accredited speakers including those who tell their family stories and experiences before and during the Holocaust. These resources are intended as an enrichment resource to programmes of Holocaust education. We can deliver these stories online, usually via Zoom, or, face to face as the situation allows.
